Excerpt: .the portion which exceeds the submission can be separated without affecting the merits of the rest, in which case that portion only will be void. The arbitrators must appoint a time and place for the hearing, must take the proper oath before the proper officer before proceeding to take testimony, and must proceed in all matters in accordance with the local statute upon the subject. All the arbitrators must meet and hear the allegations and proofs of the parties. They may compel the attendance of witnesses, usually by summons from a justice of the peace. 4. The Award. The award or finding of the arbitrators should state clearly and distinctly the determination arrived at. It should settle all the matters submitted to the arbitrators, and be complete and final so as to terminate the controversy. It should be signed and sealed in duplicate and delivered to each party. 5. Statutory Arbitration. The statutes of most of the States have regulated this matter of arbitration and award, and have provided that the award may be brought into court and judgment entered thereon. It will be best to follow the statutory method where one is provided, though if it is not followed the proceeding would still be valid and binding in most States, though no judgment can be entered on the award. 6. Method in Michigan. In Michigan all disputes, excepting those affecting the title to real estate, may be referred to and settled by arbitrators. And...
